WHAT IS HAPPENING IN GERMAN REPUBLIC TO-DAY?

Recent Riot in Berlin Said to be But a Prelude of Troubles of This Date.

Diplomatic Messages Fear Disorders Will Spread Through Land to Austria

(A. P. Special Cable)

Berlin, Jan. 15.—A Communist manifesto issued to-day urges the immediate election of revolutionary employees' councils in all industrial establishments.

General, Jan. 15.—(Haynes)—Recent events in Berlin are the prelude to others of more importance which the independent Socialists are preparing on the occasion of the anniversary of the death of Dr. Karl Liebknecht, January 16, according to German advice.

PHAR SECRET IN OVERSEAS GERMANY.

London, Jan. 15.—Fears are expressed in diplomatic dispatches received here that the Berlin imbroglio may spread through Germany, and even to Austria, where the agency of the Communists in this element recent seem disorders to increase in the masses by representing those killed as martyrs to the cause of the people.

Vienna, it is pointed out, would be heavily involved in the situation of the agitators because of the great number of revolutionaries already existing there.

The German disorders are reported outside of Berlin.

The Soviets, in analyzing the up-holding of Berlin, point out that the heavy concentration of the independent Socialists over the failure of the Government to provide the workers with a constitution, and the Workmen's Council called for by the constitution, but give the immediate demands of the workers, the strikes towards strikers. This resulted in the organization of the great demon- stration in front of the Reichstag building.

The violence that followed, how- ever, is attributed by the Red Cross Committee agents who took advantage of the assemblage, and, working on mob psychology, stated it was the Communists in this element recent seem disorders to increase in the masses by representing the Red which resulted so disastrously.

SALESPEOPLE CUT PRICES OF RIGHT HOUSE MERCHANDISE

Unusual Sale Will be Staged at The Right House Saturday, Directed by Selling Staff Solely

A Right House Sale.—The simple announcement is enough to have Hamilton look forward expectantly. The event this store's sales people are planning for Saturday, however, will be just more than a sale. It will be one of the greatest, if not the greatest, cut-price events ever held here.

Those who have shared in previous big economy events at The Right House (and who has not?) can best guess the importance of what is coming. Saturday is the day, and every part of the store will be in it. Every department will have a series big price reductions for the public.

The sale was planned in a most interesting manner. The store management, appreciating that the salespeople, being in direct contact with the public, were in the best position to know what the public wanted, had the salespeople, the purchasing department, the merchandisers and the selling staff work together.

The results are interesting. It is enough to say that never was price-cutting done in such a whole-hearted way.

The promised announcement will appear in to-morrow's Times. It will warrant your closest study.

MUN SHIRKERS SWARMING HOME

(A. P. Special Cable)

Generals, Jan. 15.—An enormous number of German subjects from those in their former homes, those of them deserting the German army during the war, are now here, following the recent enact- ment of the amnesty law in Germany.

It has been necessary to double the number of men to accommodate the rush across the frontier. Swiss newspapers express satisfaction at the departure of German ex-soldiers from the Government. Except some of the notorious German spies, who still are said to remain at large.

ITALY ACCEPTS FIUME TERMS; NOW JUGO-SLAVS REJECT THEM

KING STARTS "RED" REVOLT

(A. P. Special Cable)

Graz, Jan. 15.—Emperor Pasha, former Turkish Minister of War, who was recently King of Kurdistan, has started a Bolshevik revolution in Turkestan, Afghanistan, and Baluchistan, according to a telegram from Berlin. Emperor is said to be in many provinces and districts of his country against British holdings in southwestern Asia. The ultimate aim being India.

Large sums of money, it is reported, have been furnished Envoy by the Soviet Government in Moscow.

This is the first time on record that a Bolshevik movement has been started by a monarch.

French Press Calls for U. S. to Join.

(A. P. Special Cable.)

Paris, Jan. 15.—The League of Nations will come into being tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the public ceremony to be held in the "chambre des députés" of the French Foreign Office.

Leos Bourgeois, the French representative, gave the formal opening address, while Earl Curzon of Kedleston, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and Sir Hugh Walpole, the American Ambassador to France, and American representative at the Peace Conference, were present.

Besides M. Bourgeois, Mr. T. H. Jackson, the meeting will be attended by Vittorio Emanuele, Italian Foreign Minister; Venizelos, of Greece; Paul Hyman, Belgian Foreign Minister; Count Quintino Sella, Italian Ambassador to France; Viscount Chinda, Japan; Ambassador to Great Britain; Dr. Alfonso Rodriguez, Mexican Ambassador; Dr. Castro da Cunha, Brazilian Ambassador to France.

Present on the meeting will be principally the United States from this entry into the realms of international politics. Willard Craven, in the Peace Conference. Most of the newspapers of Paris predict this absence will not be of long duration.

Autos, driven by J. E. Haley, Dunstan, and S. J. Shaw, 17 High Street, were damaged to the extent of $50 last evening, when they were hit by an auto in the character of Craven at the corner of King and Emerald streets. Mr. Jackson stated that Craven was driving on the wrong side of the street.

Lloyd George and Clemenceau Demand Early De-cision by Belgrade.

(A. P. Special Cable.)

Graz, Jan. 15.—Just at the time when it seemed likely to agree upon a full settlement of the Fiume question, which has been accepted by premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau, a division has been created among the jugo-slavs regarding the previous invasions.

According to information obtained by the "Soviet" of the new country, it is stoutly opposed to a compromise by which it would be given up. The jugo-slavs, however, supported by the British, have accepted the proposal.

According to the "Soviet," the British Government at Belgrade decided without delay upon what it wanted to do, and gave no categorical answer to "yes" or "no" to the Jugoslav demands.

It is impossible to ascertain whether President Wilson has been informed of the proposed Fiume settlement, which appears to be in absolute contradiction to his previous statement.

Nothing has been said to him, nor has he received any assurance that it will be given that, as a whole, will approve the compromise.

ANOTHER CASE

And It May Prove Quite a Spreader.

(A. P. Special Cable.)

Dr. James Roberts, M.D., who called a patient yesterday, and just as the London Hospital had been cleared out by the discharge of all patients, came to the emergency room.

The man had come from Caledon East and had been sick since Sunday last, and had been unable to get up in the morning. He is isolated and the health department is having the examinations at the London hospital, as well as the most hem- atomy at the time.

A WONDERFUL INTER-CHURCH MASS MEETING

Great Auditorium of First Church Packed to Standing.

DEEPLY SPIRITUAL

Nearly All the Protestant Churches of the City Represented.

First Methodist Church was filled to capacity in the interests of the Inter-Church Forward Movement brought together close to two thousand representatives of the three principal denominations of this city. The service was opened by community singing, followed by a Scripture reading.

After the fact, owing to shortage of electricity, the church was in darkness, joining most heartily in the service. The choir of the church in which the services were held was directed by Mr. Harry J. Miller, choirmaster of the church.

Mr. George Cooper presided, and Rev. Mr. McAllister, minister of James Street Baptist church, opened the devotional services with prayer.

FINE GENUINE WATTEAU.

RAIL STRIKE IN BRITAIN IS ONCE MORE AVERTED

Railwaymen by Very Narrow Majority Accept the Offer of the Government

Marks New Departure in Industrial Questions Says the Men's Leader

(A. P. Special Cable.)

London, Jan. 15.—Delegates of railwaymen's unions have accepted the Government's offer in settlement of wage demands made by employed in the lower grades of this service.

After the close of this morning's meeting of the delegates, J. H. Thomas, as general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, said:

"Very considerably we decided by a very narrow majority to accept the Government's offer."

SOLDIER MISSING

S. J. Ford's Absence Causes Much Worry.

Mr. S. J. Ford, 241 Glendale avenue, has asked the local police to institute a search for his husband, who has not been seen since Saturday morning. Ford, who is 37 years of age, left his house on Saturday afternoon last, to come up town, and then went to his office at 420 King street west, where he has been engaged as a night watchman. He was last seen at 9:15 when the light came on. The great gathering of men and women at the office, and the efforts of his employer to find him, have elicited no information as to his whereabouts. He was six feet four inches in height, fair complexioned, with blue eyes, and hair of a medium color. When last seen he was wearing a dark gray overcoat, a light grey cap, and a dark suit.

WORTH WHILE

What Fire Marshall Thinks of the System.

Asked what measure of success had attended the introduction of the fire marshal system in Ontario, Mr. F. Lewis, Deputy Marshal, who was in the 1919 session of the Legislature, said that in the first ten months of 1919 the fire losses in Ontario were $16,300,000 less than in the corresponding period of 1918, and that is just as much money actually saved to the public to shut off currents and thus leave more sections in darkness.

Consequently, the fire marshal, and his force, are doing a tremendous amount of good.

"The only name mentioned in the speech of the president, and that of the president of the Canadian Legion, was 'emphatically and unalterably' opposed to the idea of 'German militarism in Canada,' and that was not heard before the war had been declared, and even had even dared to urge the preparation for the next war."

The general declared that to mention the militarism of Germany, with that of Canada in the same breath, was to insult the intelligence of the Canadian people, and that the name of Germany, which caused so much trouble, will be repudiated.

RECONSTITUTE COMMERCE BOARD

Retail Merchants Appeal to the Government.

Would Have Price-Fixing Stopped.

(Canadian Press Wire)

OTTAWA, Jan. 14.—Reconstitution of the Board of Commerce by the Government to-day by a delegation representing the Retail Merchants Association asked that the board should comprise a consumer, a producer, a manufacturer, a retailer and a chartered bank. Mr. A. W. Ullyott, president of the last named, the delegation suggested the retention of the present chairman, Mr. J. H. Robinson, and Mr. C. Chapel on Friday, at 2:30 p.m., to Hamilton Cemetery.

There was a large attendance at the funeral of John H. Stuart, which took place yesterday at 2 p.m. from 28 Barnstaple avenue north. Rev. W. W. McNaught officiated. The pall-bearers were: Mr. J. Docking, E. McMillan and L. McKenzie. There were many floral offerings, which showed the high regard in which the deceased was held.

The funeral of H. Tossian took place from Brown Brothers private chapel yesterday afternoon to St. Paul's Anglican church, where Rev. G. R. Gilmour officiated.

The funeral of Ivy May Headnight took place from her parent's residence, 18 Maplewood avenue, yesterday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the cemetery. Rev. G. H. Brown officiated.

The funeral of Alfred Wren took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 170 Hess street, at 2 p.m. Rev. G. H. Brown officiated.

The funeral of Miriam Sander Martin, wife of James Martin, took place yesterday afternoon from her late residence, Stone Creek to Hamilton Cemetery. Rev. F. J. Phillips officiated. The large attendance at the services and the many floral tributes given to the deceased showed the deep respect and esteem in which he was held.

Referring to the Board of Commerce the chairman of the board of investigation of the board in regard to retail merchants did not disclose any combine of executives or profit it making; that conditions of the trade in the various parts of Canada are so varied that no general regulations as to margin can be made. It is fair to the merchants and the consumers; that the orders of the Board of Commerce are not still more disturbing, not only to retail merchants, but to manufacturers, importers, the above classes, and consumers.

An important question before the Association referred to the Board of Commerce related to the reason made suits sold at 25 to 26 per cent and suits of a higher value at 33-1/2 per cent.

It was decided to ask the Government to change the order to allow a flat margin of 23-1/2 per cent on all suits, with the exception of men's style.

Retail merchants from western provinces objected to the reason, and it was decided to ask the government to prohibit all Oriental imports into Canada.

The other question of the association suggested that the Board of Commerce should be allowed to allow retail clubs to sell at 25 to 30 per cent of each suit, to take care of the cost of alterations and fitting.

It was suggested that the manufacturer, who buys lots in merchandise, should receive his "sales mark up" on the regular wholesale price.

THE FORWARD WAY

The great war, how happily at it was, has revolutionized the whole world. It is not the same that it was, and it never will be the same. If God takes cognizance of what transpires on earth, and we believe that He does, we cannot believe that the nations were permitted to fly at one another's throats and lay desolate a continent for the sake of some being the bulwarks of some ambitions or satisfying the ambitions of certain potentates. We believe that the Almighty had some other object in view. Was it possible that He saw that the people were so wedded to the material and the gross that nothing short of fire and sword would cause them to avert their gaze from the world? But some still seem to intercede to do what it could to render of no avail all the arrangements made for this most important gathering. The lights went out and stayed out for 48 hours, notwithstanding the frantic appeals to those in charge to have them turned on again. No satisfaction could be obtained.

We are told, of course, that the local commission is not responsible for the lights going out, that it is at the mercy of the Provincial Commission. But had the officials here used better judgment it might have been possible to have the lights kept burning throughout the entire evening. Some arrangement might have been effected. Suppose a stampede had occurred in the building, we shudder to think what might have been the result. The commission could not have been ignorant of this meeting of what would happen if the lights turned out in the church.

Gentlemen of the Council, seeing all this, let us be done and at once to have a showdown, not only to have a showdown, not only to have a showdown, but with the local institution, but with the Provincial Commission as well. This public has gone far enough.

It is just possible that the people were put into a condition where they were the edge of the abyss that threatened them, and given a sight of the realities through the horrors of the strife of war. The thousands who faced death had opportunity to realize the drift of the present and the future. Knowing these things, and having experienced them, is the world to turn its back upon the follies of the past and to start afresh in the new world so often spoken of? The whole human race is stung with uneasiness. The war has left everything in turmoil, and men and women are wondering what is going to happen. Each section of the community is fighting for its own hand, and those who would bring relief know not how to go about it. The Foreign Minister takes shape to move, but even the countries who compete it are unable to compare their own differences.

The churches are stirring themselves to do what they can to bring peace and content and happiness to the people. They have decided upon a Foreign Affairs Fund, and a gathering there where you can find these things, which apparently the world cannot give them. At the meeting in the First Methodist Church last evening the speakers declared that Jesus Christ and His alone held the key that would usher the world into a better and more peaceful and happier humanity. You would continue to grovel in the dark. You must look to Him for guidance and relief. It was emphasized that believing prayer was the key to the ear of the Saviour, and that the people should dedicate themselves to His service. The spiritual life must be deepened before they could attain the better life of the Divine commandments. The Foreign Movement was a spiritual movement; it was also a financial movement; The Churches had determined to show by their works that they were in earnest in this matter of reforming the world. Organization and machinery and human help were to make the movement succeed, and the people were engaged in raising funds for this purpose. The Presbyterian Church and the Methodist Church proposed raising four million dollars each, and the other Churches were raising similar amounts.

The advancement of the Kingdom would be widespread and rapid if the movement is sustained by the prayers of the people.

THE FOREIGNER IN OUR MIND

Hamilton has more than its fair share of the foreign element within its borders. This is because of the large number of industrial concerns that need them or their labor. There were more of them when the war was on, but there is now a large number here yet. Not a few of these foreigners are mere birds of passage, returning home when they have accumulated a certain amount of money. Yet there is a large number who may become permanent residents. The foreigner is not regarded highly as a neighbor. The consequence is that they have a tendency to form colonies by themselves, and to perpetuate the use of their own language and customs. This hinders the work of Canadianizing them.

What was once known as the Reading Camp Association, but now known as the Frontier College, has for some years devoted itself to educating these foreigners with a view to make them good Canadians. In the lumber camps and other centres it has undertaken the task of teaching the English language, has taught something of the duties of citizenship and interested them generally in things Canadian. With a view to still further promote this work, Mr. Alfred Fitzpatrick, B. A., has prepared a "Handbook for New Canadians," published by the Ryerson Press. To those who have not had time to learn simple lessons in the use of the English language, with phrases and sentences easily picked up by the foreigner, it tells something of the geography of this country, gives simple descriptions of the government of Canada and how to obtain naturalization. There are also translations into six native tongues of over a thousand English words most in use; the book is also illustrated with pictures explaining the meaning of the words. For instance, the picture of a ship has the word "ship" written under it, and the word "ship" repeated under it.

Those Hamilton people who are engaged in this work or who are interested in the foreigner should get a copy of the book. It would simplify their work and make it easy for them and for the foreigner. The book is intended principally for grown-ups. The children are supposed to get their education in the schools.

THE LIGHT THAT FAILED

Perhaps the most interesting feature that has come to Hamilton for many years is that held in the First Methodist Church last evening. All the Protestant Churches of the city were deeply interested in it. Elaborate preparations had been made, and two of the most eloquent speakers in Canada were secured to address it. The crowd was greatest in the church, packed and overflowing, to hear the speaker, the evening one of great interest. But some evil spirit seemed to interfere to do what it could to render of no avail all the arrangements made for this most important gathering. The lights went out and stayed out for 48 hours, notwithstanding the frantic appeals to those in charge to have them turned on again. No satisfaction could be obtained.

We are told, of course, that the local commission is not responsible for the lights going out, that it is at the mercy of the Provincial Commission. But had the officials here used better judgment it might have been possible to have the lights kept burning throughout the entire evening. Some arrangement might have been effected. Suppose a stampede had occurred in the building, we shudder to think what might have been the result. The commission could not have been ignorant of this meeting of what would happen if the lights turned out in the church.

"She's that, all right. Why that girl can't smoke a cigarette better than I can."

HISTORIC PARALLEL.

Resembles of German and Athenian Policies and Results.

There was an ancient nation as renowned for its culture as Germany was for its Kultur. A nation whose Fratry would have taken the broadest steps in the direction of progress, the stakes of their backs, almost the breath of their nostrils, in the struggle for a more or less affecting and restricting every man's go on sentenced sentence, compared to the present time, would have been a farce.

It might help the situation if we were to go back to the war-worried street lighting. The cutting off of every other light might help quite a bit. No great objection would be taken to my suggestion adopting this plan as a light saver.

When I was a child it was necessary for me to beg my bread from door to door, said Mr. Watson, in speech in the British House of Commons. He was actually shouting railway cars three days before he entered the House. Mr. A. E. We had less than 1,750,000 people, and we sent over 200,000 soldiers into service.

That means that one in every three males in Scotland was in uniform. Almost every man of fighting age was in service.

HIS WILLING SACRIFICE

"Yes," assented the squire, almost reluctantly, "I am a tame bird of the woods, and my suspicions are often given expression to about the newcomer."

"I am not the 'foul for rest,'" said Mr. Faradane, "and had intended paying the hermit, but—but—and then I thought it was better for a moment—but your knowledge has rendered that impossible."

"We have been restored the squire, with unusual heartiness. "You are not the stuff of which hermits are made," Mr. Faradane, and the man, after a brief tryst on rear good nature, Hawkwood does not get a novelty very often, and will, very probably, bring you an equal present. I understand my sister Amelia has already asked for her usual price. Take care! If you give an inch to one of these charitable birds, they'll take a mile."

"It is a very small inch," said Hagedorn Faradane, simply. "I am only going to retreat at some point, though."

"And the next thing she will want you to do will be to have a tray of tea served to the squire with a laugh of open appreciation."

It happened that Olvia was passing through the house, the moment, and the sound of her father's laughter, which had become rare of late, almost sent her into a fit of mirth.

"What is he in the drawing-room?" she asked the butler.

"I am not in the drawing-room," replied Mr. Faradane, and Mr. Faradane of the Dell," he replied.

Olvia stopped short with a sudden throb of her heart that sent the blood to her head, and she dropped the skirt of her habit, so that just come in from a gauntlet to hide.

Mr. Faradane, the new gentleman, said, and the butler, and he moved away, but Olvia stood still, looking at him.

"No, I am not going in," she said, and went quickly upstairs.

The door of the drawing room opened, and she heard the squire's voice, in his most genial tone, the tone which always made her smile.

"You must let me show you around the old place," Mr. Faradane, and she said, "I am not going in."

Olvia stopped short with a strange expression on her lovely face—an expression which had never yet worn for any man in the world.

The squire and Mr. Faradane made their way round the grounds, and the squire, who had been a great admirer of the young, an action very unusual, had even complimented him, and indicated the favorable impression his visitor had made upon him.

"It is a very comfortable place," he said, when they had made the rounds of the lower garden, with its hundreds of peach and nectarine trees, and the upper garden, where the houses in which the gardeners grew the elusive flowers which would, it was entered, be the pride of the town.

As at the local shows, "a very comfortable place; I think it would be nice to live in."

Mr. Faradane looked at him with a nod of appreciation, and he said, smiling:

"That is all right for improvement, he said, as if to account for the sight.

"I am always in," said Faradane.

"Fortunately no place perfect—we should tire of it very soon if it were."

"The squire looked at him with a nod of appreciation, and suddenly his face faded, and he said, smiling:

"That is all right for improvement, he said, as if to account for the sight.

"I am always in," said Faradane.

"And when you have too much money," he said moodily.

"Yes, and when you have too much money," he said.

"That is true," responded the squire, as it was the excuse so pleasantly offered. "Quite true; these are hard times for landlords everywhere."

"Indeed they are," acquiesced Faradane.

The squire looked at him with an unfortunate air of bewilderment. "I am sorry," he said, "but I am the squire."
